

REMARKS

Claims 1-18 are pending in the instant application. Claims 19 and 20 have been added by this Amendment. Claim 11 has been cancelled by this Amendment. Therefore upon entry of this present Amendment claims 1-10, and 12-20 will be pending.

The Examiner has indicated that the following combinations may be allowable:

Claim 1 + claim 11 + claim 12

Claim 1 + claim 5 + claim 7 + claim 12

Claim 13 + claim 11 + claim 12

Claim 13 + claim 5 claim 7 + claim 12

Applicants wish to thank Examiner for the indication of allowable subject matter. Applicant has adopted Examiner's recommendation with the exception of the call waiting procedure limitation of claim 12*. Applicant has instead uses the limitation that mobile phone is capable of making or receiving calls from both networks. Support for this limitation and reasoning for novelty above prior art begins at paragraph [0019] page 8 of Applicants' disclosure. The claims are mapped as follows:

Claim 1 + claim 11 + claim 12* = claim 1

Claim 1 + claim 5 + claim 7 + claim 12* = claim 19

Claim 13 + claim 11 + claim 12* = claim 13

Claim 13 + claim 5 claim 7 + claim 12* = claim 20

Examiner correctly notes that the claims before amendment did not specify "when" simultaneous transmission occurs. The Examiner cites Dorenbosch US 6,768,726 for the teaching the broad reading of simultaneous transmission. Applicants have amended the claims that the mobile phone is capable of making and receiving call from any of the multiple networks. Applicant's invention does not need to resolve complex protocol internetworking that is problematic when attempting to handoff a wireless call. In Dorenbosch the user is handed off from one network to another and the call is maintained if user is in mid call. However, after handoff the user receives and makes calls using the network that the mobile is currently connected. Embodiments of the Applicant's allows the user to make or receive calls from either network. The reasons may be for features, costs, signal strength...

Applicants believe this application and the claims herein to be in a condition for allowance. Applicant respectfully requests a Notice of Allowance. Please charge any additional fees, or credit overpayment to Deposit Account No. 20-0668. Should the Examiner have further inquiry concerning these matters, please contact the below named attorney for Applicants.

Respectfully submitted:
